Conventionally, I've always thought that passive income can only be generated when you have money and if you don't have (or have little), passive income is impossible. That's no longer true..

The author has provided detailed plans on how passive income is possible when you've got little or no money. The book goes on to show you exactly how a person earning $3000 a month can achieve consistent and stable streams of passive income sometimes even without putting his own money down.
